Pr 26:1 \P As snow in summer, and as rain in harvest, so honour is not seemly for a fool

Suppose during summer snow, or during harvest rain that weird, same if stupid agent honor, that not match.

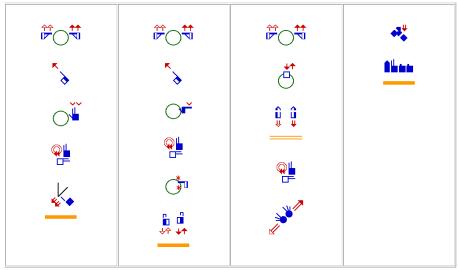

Pr 26:2 \P As the bird by wandering, as the swallow by flying, so the curse causeless shall not come.

You afraid birds fly huh never, same should not fear curse without reason.

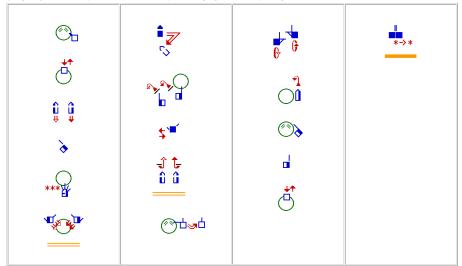

Pr 26:3 ¶ A whip for the horse, a bridle for the ass, and a rod for the fool's back.

Teach the horse use punish. Teach the donkey use head control. Teach stupid agent, use rod on butt.

Pr 26:4 \P Answer not a fool according to his folly, lest thou also be like unto him. If stupid agent he talk silly, never answer same way, because people will think you stupid too.

Pr 26:5 Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own conceit. If he stupid agent talk silly, how answer huh? Answer simple clear. Why, so he not think pride me wise.
