

Proverbs 28:6 ¶ Better is the poor that walketh in his uprightness, than he that is perverse in his ways, though he be rich.

Which better? He poor agent but every day straight, or he rich agent but astray cheat? Which? He honest agent.

Proverbs 28:7 ¶ Whoso keepeth the law is a wise son: but he that is a companion of riotous men shameth his father.

That son law obey he wise but that son party people his friends. He cause father shame.

Proverbs 28: 10 ¶ Whoso causeth the righteous to go astray in an evil way, he shall fall himself into his own pit: but the upright shall have good things in possession.

If any agent he cause right agent astray sin way, then will his pit he fall. But straight agent he will many good things have.
